Young Thurman, of Ohio, although as strong a democrat as his father, the exsenator, bolts the democratic ticket. He says he never voted for a republican in his life, but now it is simply a choice between a regular republican and a "political gymnast," and he prefers the straight thing, the regular republican.

A report came to New York on the 4th that Lotta, the bright little actress, got married to a man named Huss, but it has been lerrned after investigation, that Lotta is not married at all, and that the real person married though a Miss Charlotte Crabtree, was of an entirely distinct personality. Beside this, Lotta sailed for Europe several days ago. Lotto would rather book up her little beels, make money and keep the people laughing, than get married, go to house-keeping, and hide from public

The Inter Ocean in its issue of to-day (Saturday) presents a thorough review of the condition of the crops in the west and northwest, prepared under special instructions by its regular correspondents in all parts of these sections. They are not mere guesses, but are the results of careful and thorough pavestigation, and can be depended upon. The result is "the prospects generally are excellent' and, fair weather smiling on the labors of the agriculturist, there are promises of a yield, if not greater, at least equal to any known heretofore. The rains and cool weather of June were not favorable to coin, but the last few days of hot weather have worked miracles, and unless some unexpected misfortune should ensue, the crop will be as large as that of last year. Wheat is about the average, and the harvest of winter wheat in the lower latitudes are enormous. Altogether the reports are very favorable, and another year of prosperity to the farmers and cheap food for the consumers is before us."

among the democrats over the condition of Mr Tilden. Mr. Watterson, who, in 1877, said he would raise an army of 100,000 men and go to Washington and place Tilden in the White house, is showing a deep interest in the health of the Sage of Gramercy. He went to Greystone a few days ago, had a long talk with the cipher frand, and returned to tell the country that Mr. Tilden was in robust health and that he would be ru an excellent condition for the campaign of TL. But those who do not wrut Lilden on the course next year say that Henry Water ou's report is absolutely false and ul'ar rabbish. One report in the interest of another candidate says, "Mr. Tilden is in exceedingly feeble health. He is partly paralyzed, and he can not help himself any to speak of. Ho is assisted up and down stairs, is drossed and is fed. He does not speak above a whisper, save at intervals. He comes down to the city from Greystone occasionally, but is

In the efficial notice of the meeting of the Wisconsin Editorial association at Henry Watterson is getting worked up | Lake Geneva, on Tuesday, July 17th, the president, Lieutenant Governor Fifield. gives the following programme:

Tuesday, 7:30 p. m.-Convention will most at the opera house, in the village of Lake Geneva. where addresses of welcome and general exchange of compliments will be in order after roll call; 8:30 p. m -Annual address by Colonel Nicholas Smith, of the Janesville Gazette; and poem by Mrs. Sarah Dyer Hobart.

Wednesday, 9 n. in -Business meeting at the opera house. 2 p. m.—Grand steamboat excursion around Lake Geneva. 8:20 p. m.—Banquet at the opera house or Kaye's park.

Thursday, 9 a. m.—Boating, fishing and yacht parties upon the lake, regatta, boat race, etc 2 p. m -Visit to the encampment of the 1st Reg. III. N. G. at Kaye's park, dress parade, sham battle, etc. 9 p. m.-Grand ball.

Friday-Leave for Chicago, giving all a chance o visit places of interest before dispersing to their bomes.

A first class band of forty pieces will be in atendance during the week.

The gentlemen who have arranged the programme say that from letters already received it is evident that the coming convention will be one of the largest and best ever held in the state. The place of meeting is a delightful one, and in extending a cordial invitation to the association to visit them, the citizens of Lake Geneva were determined to make the most extensive and generous preparations for their guests, and also to make the visit a thoroughly enjoyable one.

The trade dollar panic is getting worse and worse in the east, and the poor people are being robbed by the speculators who have gotten up this flurry. A great many people are at a loss to know why the trade dollar is not as good as the standard silver dollar authorized by the act of 1878. There is more silver in it than in the dollar which is now taken by everybody and called the standard dollar. The difference is simply this: The standard silver dollar was authorized in 1878 when silver was restored to circulation, but the (rade dollar was not coined by the government as a government coin at In February, 1873, its all.

coinage was authorized by congress simply to enable American merchants in the China trade to obtain a convenient official stamp upon their silver bullion that would make it preferred in China to the old Mexican dollar. The government mints did the coining for the merchants and charged nothing but for the nominal sum trade dollar was trouble. The was never intended as a circulating me-Jinm in this country, and the sconer it is out of the way the better. There were coived to June 30th, 1877, over 24,000,000 of these come, and this number is in circulation now. While there are tons of the standard dollar stocked up in the treasmry vaults, there is no use allowing the trade dollar to make such flurries among

The Madison Democrat in looking about for a crumb of comfort, picks up the following:

There is squeaking and grating discord in the republican tune on the tailf ques-tion. The extremists who gobbled up the lows convention declare—if they doclare anything—against further reduction of the tailf. An angry protest follows this misropresentation of the sentiment of Lows. The Minnesota republicans, in their platform, call for more tariff reductheir platform, call for more tabli reduction. The Ohio republicans "view with alarm" any further tariff reform, excepting always the case of the tariff on wool. The Minnesotians call for no let up on whisky taxes. The Keptucky republication whose pures have been sure by all cans, whose praises have been sung by all the organs, demand, in the sacred name of Bourbon whisky, that the internal revenue taxes be all swept away. The republican chorus on the question is likely to be as discordant as the orchestre of

There is no discord in the republican party on the main proposition to protect the industries of this country. In the demogratic party the sontiment on this question is as divided as the two poles. Randall and Voorhees are as strong for protection as any republican can be, and they are leaders in the democratic party. One democratic paper calls the tariff a hideous piece of tyranny, but the New York Star, another democratic paper, says such talk is nothing but howling absurdities. The Iroquois club said the tailff was a shame and should be abolished, but Carter Harrison, who seems to have political foresight than more democratic of his many There is bitter wraughing going on brethren, told the Iroquois clab that if the democratic party arows its position on free trade "it will knock them higher than Gilderoy's kite." The Iowa democrats want free trade, but the Ohio democrats, when assombled in a state convention, dared not to say they wanted free trade for four the prediction of Cruter Harrison would come true at the next election. This is the condition of things among the democrats, and the discord will not be to their advantage when the struggle comes next year.

Trial Trip of the Shaw Locomotive and Dynograph_Sixty-Five Miles Per Hour.

A Rumor as to Some Movements of the Vandalla. Past Trains on the Pan Bandle-Butler on Hoosac Tunnel.

Cincago, July 7.—An opportunity was af-forded milroad men, through the courtesy of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad company, to witness an exhibition trial of two of he greatest and most prominent features of the recent railway exposition by a run to Milwaukee and return with Dudley's trackinspection car and the Henry F. Shaw loco-

The Shaw locometive was attached to the regular eight o'clock morning train of the Northwestern road for Milwaukee. Northwestern read for The run from here to Milwaukee is known as one of the hardest on the read on account of the quick time to be made and the many stops, while the engines used was not constructed for that kind of service, but rather for light service at high speed, with continuous runs and no stops. The trial was made to test the pulling qualities of the engine. Although seven cars were attached to her, the run was made in good time and to the satisfaction of all. Following this train came one of the company's locomotives and the private car of General Superintendent J. D. Layug, followed by the Dudley track inspection car. These were run at a uniform speed of from twenty to twenty-five miles per hour. The mechanical appliances in the car indicated in colored lines the defects in the track, while the "low joint spotter" marked the rails in colors that indicated to the section boss what remedy he should apply.

The gentlemen remained about an hour and a half in Milwaukee, lunch having been served the invited guests on the private car On the return trip the track inspection car and the general superintendent's car were attached to the Shaw locomotive, and the markers of the inspection car were adjusted to record the speed of the train. This showed the speed to be at different times fifty-nine, sixty-one, sixty-four and sixty-five miles per hour, which was considered remarkable speed. The Shaw locomotive did all her work without the usual shocks and hammer blows of the ordinary locomotives. The trial was fully confirmatory of all the many claims made for the engine and the car, and while both of them may be a number of years ahead of the time, all present at the trial trip will witness to the superior value of all the inventions employed on them, and will bear testimony to their practical use on railroads.

THE VANDALIA AFTER THE E. & T. H. It is rumored that a movement is on foot to secure the Evansville & Terre Haute railroad for the Vandalia. It is also rumored that the Vandalia will try to secure the Illinois Midland railroad. As regards the former rumor, there is evidently no foundation for it, as the Evansville & Terro Hauto is controlled by the Chicago & Eastern Illinois and the Louisville & Nashville railroads, and forms the link connecting the two roads between Terre Haute and Nashville, thus giving the Eastern Illinois a direct line to all points on the Louisville & Nashville system. Of the $10,-000,000 stock of the Evansville & Terre Haute the Chicago & Eastern Illinois owns $4,000,000; the Louisville & Nashville, $4,-000,000, and Evansville parties, $2,000,000. It will, therefore, be seen that even if the Vandalia should be able to secure the stock held by Evansville parties it could not get control of that road. It is generally understood that the Chicago & Eastern Illinois and the Evensville & Terre Haute will ultimately become a part of the Louisville & Nashville system. A little more than a year ago arrangements had been perfected for consolidating the Eastern Illinois and Evansville & Terre Haute with the Louisville & Nashville. But just about the time when the arrangement was to have gone into effect the stockholders of the Chicago, Danville & Vincennes obtained a decree from the supreme court setting uside the foreclosure sale to the Eastern Illinois, and conse-quently the consolidation was defeated. Litigation between the Danville & Vincennes and the Eastern Illinois is still going on, and before it is concluded the Eastern Illinois cannot carry out its arrangement with the Louisville & Nashville. As regards the Illinois Midland, the Vandalia may, no doubt, have it if it desires. The road is now in the hands of a receiver. It runs from Pekin, Ill., to Terre Haute. About a year ago it was virtually abandoned, not being able to earn enough to pay salaries. Since then Mr. Conkling has been appointed receiver, and by able and indefatigable work be has succeeded in restoring traffic service and carning enough to pay expenses. As a feeder to the Vandalia the road have become et some value.

BUTLER AND THE HOOSAC TUNNEL. BOSTON, July 7.-Gov. Butlor returned from his Berkshire county trip with the members of the executive council, and at Greenfield he addressed the citizens on the subject of the Hoosac tunnel, saying the commonwealth must reap all the benefit from it that it ever will reap by aiding, so far it may, in extending the line to navigable waters in the west, so that the breadstuffs of the west can be brought to Massachusetts and the manufoctures of Massachusetts and the manu-foctures of Massachusetts can be carried to the west. But even that great end must not be attained by the sacrifice of a competing line between the west and the east, because upon that largely depends the prosperity of the commerce of Bos-"Therefore so for as any official power of duty lies with me, it will be exerted, first, to obtain that consolidated line from Boston to the naviguble waters of the west, on which, through the tunnel, freight can be carried and brought at the cheapest rate; and, secondly, to so preserve the state control of the tunnel that it will never be open to such a condition of things that competition shall cease. In other words, that whoever desires to go through the tunnel with freight or passenger, shall go through at the same rate as anybody else, and everybody else shall go through at the same rate that he shall; otherwise all the expenditure upon it bus been substantially valueless."

The governor argued that a change of ownership in the tunnel would not work disaster, and said: "Whoever owns the tunnel, the legislature and executive power of Masschusetts control it, and nothing can be done to it that the legislature and the executive do not agree to. The duty of the legislature and the executive is to throw a guard around the interests of the commonwealth that here at least railroad competition can not end in milroad combination by which high fares and high freights are to be imposed upon the

The Pan-Handle route also is the shortest line to Cincinuati and the only line running Pullman parlor-cars on day trains and Pullman sleeping-cars on its night trains, making the run between the cities in ten hours.

Trains leave at 9:10 a. m. and 9 p. m. The Pan-Handle is not only the shortest line, but it is two hours the quickest route between Chicago and Louisville via Indianapolis, with parlor-cars on its fast daylight express and palace sleeping-cars on night trains.

STRANGE IF TRUE.

Something Supernatural or Otherwise in Chleago ... The Portrait in the Window.

CHICAGO, July 7.-An object well worthy of scientific investigation may be seen in the window of the drug store at No. 485 South Western avenue, between the hours of 7 and S in the evening. The object in question is nothing more nor less than an ordinary pane of plate-glass, and at any time except the hour specified there is nothing about it that yould attract attention, but as the sun wanes in light and heat each evening it exerts an influence in the glass that is believed by many to be supernatural, and there are bun dreds of people in the neighborhood who will ot under any circumstances go near it. Here is the story of the wonderful glass, as told a reporter by Dr. A. K. Smith, in whose drug store the pane is kept; About three weeks ago an East India Jow, who is possessed of many eccentricities of character, boarded in a house a few doors east of the drug store on Taylor street, and occupied the front room on the second floor, the windows of which faced the west. The Jew took sick, and died after an illness of a few days. He was dressed for burial and laid out in the center of the room directly in front of the window. About half-past o'clock on the ovening of the second day after the funeral the dead man's wife was sitting in the same room weeping over the loss of her husband, when she chanced to look toward the center window. As she did so she uttered a piercing scream and rushed toward it, and began to pass her hand gently over the lower pane, speaking words of tenderness and love in her own language as she did so. When the people in the lower portion of the house rushed into the room in response to the woman's scream, they saw her kissing the window-pane and acting in such a peculiar insane. She turned suddenly, however, in such a manner as to expose the pane, and the people in the room saw a sight that brought forth a yell and a general rush for the stairs leading to the ground floor, for there in the glass was as perfect a likeness of the dead man as the best photographer could produce. The eyes were closed, the features were calm, and the beard and hair were just as they had been arranged for the burial. The picture showed the bead and a portion of the bust almost to the waist. A linen handkerchief that had been placed across the breast of the dead man when he was laid out was also accurately reproduced. The wife of the deceased is of a superstitious turn of mind, and firmly believed that her husband had returned to express some wish he desired fulfilled, and stayed constantly by it. The story of the "apparition" spread through the neighborhood like wild-fire, and landreds came at all hours of the day to see it. Many who came in the morning and early afternoon and failed to see anything pronounced the story a canard, but those who returned and viewed the glass at the hour specified were astonished to see the picture as it had been represented. Dr. Smith was a doubting Thomas for awhile, and would not even take the pains to go into the room and examine the glass. He did so at length, however, and was astonished beyond description at beholding the picture, or whatever it is, as it was a perfect likeness of the departed Jew, whom he had known quite well, the face and features being identical in every particular with what is suppose to have been the original. The glass attracted so much attention outside and excited so much superstitious fear inside the house that the landlord determined to have it taken out. Dr Smith got possession of it by substituting a new pane in its stead. The glass is placed the show-window facing west, and during the day it is a very innocent appearing piece of glass, but when the sun reaches certain point the lineaments of a man's pearded face gradually begin to appear, and in about ten minutes the picture is complete, presenting an appearance not unlike the negative of a photograph, only it is somewhat more distinct. The glass has been washed over and over again with strong chemicals, but its wonderful peculiarity can not be de-stroyed, and incredulous persons may have their curiosity fully gratified by visiting the show-window named between the hours of 7 and Sp. m., as at 8 o'clock the picture begins to grow dim and quickly disappears altogether. Dr. Smith says that during the past week the picture has grown somewhat dim, but not to any great degree. He is anxious for someone to explain the mystery or scientific freak.

Cooked to Death.

CHICAGO, July 7.—Another terrible accipted dent, by which two men lost their lives, took place at the works of the North Chicago rolling-mill company, at South Chicago. John Hero and John Holengreen, two Swedes in the employ of the company, were on the inside of one of the boilers in the rail department scaling it, that is scraping it out and making general repairs. The steam with which this boiler is supplied comes from a large pipe which supplies four teen boilers in all. Each boiler has a valve on the upper side, and by means of this valve the steam can be shut off or turned on. The men were busily at work when suddenly there was a loud report, the valve had broken and filled the entire boiler instantly with blinding, scalding steam. The two unfortunate men were imprisoned, and before they could even make an attempt to escape they were blinded, choked, and, falling to the floor, were literally cooked to death before any assistance could be rendered. Drs. Larkin and Meeker were at date summoned, but nothing could be done, as Hero was taken out of the boiler dead, and Holengreen died almost immediately afterward. The bodies of the dead men were placed in wagons and taken to their homes. Holengreen is middle-aged, married, and has three children, all young. He lived in Colehour. Hero is also of middle age, is married, and has no children. He lives on Buffalo avenue, between Eightyeighth and Eighty-ninth streets. Hero had three brothers, Joseph, Henry, and Thomas, who worked with him in the mills.

Chicago Low Licenso Men. CHICAGO, July 7.—The low liceuse people are very mysterious about their proposed fight against the constitutionality of the Harper bill. This might seems to be certain: that proceedings will be begun before the passage of a high license ordinance by the council. It seems to be the plan to sue for a mandamus against the city for the issuance of a licerza under the old ordinance and to throw the entire L. den of the defense of the constitutionality of the high license law on May or Harrison's law department

DEATH ON THE DROP.

Mound City, Ill., Reports a Lynching Sensation.

A Fight on a Train with very Tragical Results.

Lawful Execution in Texas .-- A Colored Rapist Feels the Halter Braw---Account of His Crime.

Mound Cirr, Rt., July 7.-This city has been the scene of a most terrible crime—that of lynching a prisoner who was in charge of the civil authorities. The crime for which he suffored death was that of murder, of which the following are the particulars: On the evening of the Fourth as the east-bound train on the Wabash road was nearing this city, two men, John Caln, white, and Nelson How ard, colored, got into an altereation which resulted fatally to Cain. The latter and a friend, John Lane, were sitting on the front steps of the baggage-car when Howard came out, and in loaning over the two men struck them in the back with his feet. Lane jumped up and said, "Don't walk over us," and was answered in an insulting manner by Howard. Cain then interfered, and ordered Howard to go back into the car where he belonged. Howard refused to go, when Can remarked:

"By ——! I'll make you go," at the same time rising to his feet and pulling a revolver from his pocket. Howard, seeing the weapon in the hands of Cain, sprang upon the latter, seized the weapon with both hands, and attempted to wrench it from the grasp of his opponent. During the struggle which ensued the weapon was discharged, but failed to do any harm. The men stumbled over a valise setting in the doorway of the cur and fell to the floor, where they continued to struggle for possession of the revolver. While on the floor four shots were fired, three of them taking effect in the body of Cain. One of the balls entered his left temple and ledged in the brain, another passed through a note book in the pocket of his cont and entered his left side below the fifth rib, and, ranging upward, passed through the lobe of the left lung, severing several of the large blood-vessels connected with that organ, while the third ball inflicted a flesh wound in the right side. By this time the train had reached the depot, when Howard sprang to his feet, jumped from the train, and started to run, closely pursued by the conductor, A. B. Gibson, who emptied his revolver at the fugitive, but failed to bring him to a halt, and for a time it was feared that he would secape. The wounded man lingered for about four hours, when he died. Dopaty Sheriff Painter summoned a posse of men and started for Grand Chain, the home of Howard, where they captured him. The prisoner was brought to this city and lodged in juil. About 2 o'clock an engine was observed coming slowly up the railroad from the direction of Cairo, but whether any cars were attached or not is not known. The engine stopped about a half a mile below town, and a short time afterward men in groups of two or three were obsorved approaching the jail. The main body of the mob stopped in the shadow of a church some three hundred yards from the. jail, and a few of their went forward to interview the jailer, who when called upon, refused to deliver the keys of the prison. The spokesman then signaled the main body of the crowd, who approached the building, armed with heavy sledges and proceeded to batter down the doors. That being done, the mob, all of whom were masked, entered the building and seized the failer and his wife and bound them, while the rest of the party escended to the second story, in which was located the cell in which the documed man was confined, The cell door was burst from its fastenings, and the prisoner was dragged into the corriand the prisoner was arraged into the corridor and down-stairs, all the time begging most liteously for his life. He was taken out into the juil-yard, where he made a stour resistance, and received a blow in the back of the head from a spike maul, which crushed his skull, and which no doubt rendered him insensible to the hanging to later he was dragged to a tree some two hundred yards from the jail and suspended from a limb with a piece of staging-line. While this work was going on, four colored ten who were on guard on the outside of the jail were watching the proceedings from a distance, but made no attempt to stop the work. After the job was finished, the mob departed as noiselessly as it had come. A short time afterward the engine departed, going toward Cairo. One of the men on guard then rushed to the school house and rang the bell, and a number of citizens started for the scene of the lynching, only to find that the work of the mob had been accomplished. The body was cut down by those present, but life was extinct. There is no means of estimating the number of persons engaged in the affair as the reports are very conflicting, but is is safe to say that there were not less than seventyfive men in the party. It is not thought that any of the citizens of this place had anything so do with the lynching. Both of the mur-dered men were employes of the Wabash road. Cain was the boss of a gang of bridge men, and was stationed at Carmi, and was on his way home from Cairo, where he had been celebrating the Fourth. Howard was a track walker at Grand Chain, this county, and had always been considered a tough citizen. Both men were under the influence of liquor at the time of the fracas.

TURNED OFF ACCORDING TO LAW. Houston, Tex., July 7.—Before the execution of John Cone for the rape of Mrs. Eitle M. Scott, he was attended in his cell by Rev. Messrs. Worlein (white), Scott and Davis He declared his innocence, and said that he had made his peace with God. Sheriff John Tant entered after 11 o'clock and said: "John, put on your coat and shoes." Cone was led to the scaffold at 11:17. The deathwarrant was read by the sheriff, and religious services performed by Rovs. Werlein and Scott. During the services Cone was cool. Kneeling on the trap, he spoke to about 200 people from the edge of the scaffold, saying: "WHITE AND COLORED PEOPLE: I am here to be put to death. Remember the 6th day of July. On that day one poor, innocent man was put to death. I have made my peace with God and expect to meet you in heaven. Good-by." He asked for water, and drack it without a tremor of the hand. As he was being tied he said: "This is horrible. Don't it make you feel sad! Let it be a warning to all." At sixteen minutes to 12 a warning to an. At sixteen innutes to 12 the trap was sprung. Cone fell eight feet, dying with only a few perceptible struggles. He died bravely. Over 1,000 people were on the outside of the jail during the execution. On the 16th of January, 1883, while Mrs.

Scott, wife of a railroad employe, living in a lonely little house at Ten-mile tank, in Harris county, was attending to her domestic duties, a negro calle suddenly upon her and made improper proposals. She attempted to make her escape from the house, but was struck over the head with a boot-jack and knocked over the head with a boot-jack and knocked senseless. While in this condition the negro-ravished for twice. After committing the crime he left and disappeared from the neighborhood of Ten-mile tank, which is ion miles from Houston, on the line of the Calveston, Harristang & San Antonio railway. Whon Mrs. Scott recovered from the assault she went to where her husband was employed and related the story of the act of the negro. The husband and father of the lady alarmed the neighborhood and search for the negro was commenced, and resulted in the capture and identification of the prisoner.

GOTHAM GLEANINGS.

Review of the State of Trade Throughout the Country -- Assisted Emigrants Catechised.

New York, July 7.—The various elements of strength in the general business situation this week are shown by special telegrams to Bradstreet's to have continued in full force. The customary midsummer dullness is reported from many points, but the reports tell likewise of a free movement of cereals, merchandise, and coal, creased strength in the position of the iron market, and the dissipation of corners in breadstuffs and provisions, together with continued improvement in crop prospects. The wheat market declined during the earlier part of the week at several cities prior to the two days' interval over the Fourth. It subsequently advanced, principally at the west, owing, as is alleged, to manipulations of holders to enable them to dispose of stocks on hand. Indian corn has acted in sympathy with wheat, but has not exhibited the plasticity of the latter. The export demand for corn has been moderately fair, while that for wheat has been very small. Foreign buyers, in the face of heavy supplies abroad, still consider prices on this side several cents too high.

Provisions declined during the early half of the week, but advanced again after the midweek holiday in response to the efforts of the bull clique of the west.

The volume of trade for the week has of courso been restricted on acount of the national holiday. Country traders, however, very generally declare that, with fair crops, the outlook for the autumn trade is excellent. Except in the north Minnesota and Dakota regions, the weather during the just week has very generally favored the growing grain crops. In the district specified there is still some doubt as to the outcome. Bradstreet's preliminary report of the wheat crop of the United States for 1883, foreshadows a total crop of about 404,000,-000 bushels, based on mail reports to June 1 and supplementary telegrams received from important grain-growing centres.

The speculative petroleum market has declined on the week, owing to a removal of a part of the full support recently derived from Wall street, and to other causes.

There were 136 failures in the United States reported during the past week, 29 less than the preceding week, 87 more than the corresponding week of 1882, and 91 more than the same week of 1888.

SCENES AT CASTLE GARDEN.

Of the 500 steerage passengers on the steam ship City of Romo, there were thirty immi-grants assisted by the British government. Inspectors Charles G. Eichler and Philip Herrlich boarded the steamship by means of a tug shortly after she left quarantine. The inspectors went through the stoerage and carefully eyed every passenger. Passengers who were aged or infirm or whose clothing was badly worn or torn, were questioned briefly, and their names were written in the inspector's little book, if they confessed that they had received government assistance. The examination was very brief, and only an introduction to a thorongi catechnsing in Castle Garden. In the narrow way between a fence at one side and the desk of a clerk on the other the emigrants crowd-The heat in the building was sufficating. At the side of the clerk the inspectors stood to identify those who had confessed to receiv-ing government aid. The formal questions to be asked of each emigrant were written in a big round hand and filed on a book at the clerk's elbow. The questions were: "What were you doing when you started for America?" "Were you living in any public institution previous to coming to America?"

"Who was the superintendent of that insti-

"Who paid your fare?" While the mill was grinding the immigrants through the parrow passage, however, the questions actually put were: "Did the government pay your passage! Have you any friends in this country?" If the innifgrants' passage was paid, then the circumstances were carefully and with the greatest. pains inquired into in every instance. The pains inquired into the worly instance. The passengers who were assisted came from the workhouse, and nearly every one from that in Ballanisloe. Every one gave the name and address of a friend or relative to whose residence they were september 19 there addresses the configuration of the configuration. arately bound. Nearly all of these addresses were in the neighborhood of this city. Supt. Yackson wrote the statement of each one, and it was sworn to. Then he telegraphed to their friends. The immigrants sleep on benches in Castle Garden. The employes complain that since the examination has been instituted the time consumed in the routine of discharging them has been doubled. DEATH RATE INCREASING. The hot wave increased the death rate. July 4 the number of deaths was 150. On the 5th, 130; up to noon to day, 205. A large proportion of the victims are children under 5 years in the crowded tenement houses.

A Fraudulent Whale. CHICAGO, July 7.—About a year ago, it will be remembered, a company called the "Inland Whaling company exhibited a whale all over the country, from Maine to Califor nia, which was visited by thousands and proved a first-class speculation for the exhibitors. This whale is now lying on a flat-car on the side track on the lake front here. All that remains of him is a few flapping pieces of canvass and rotting hide, while the framework, bones and flesh are gone. In their place is a lot of shavings, old barrels, sticks, dirt, and the frame proves to be of stout hickory, bent into whale shape. These are the bones. The shavings were the flesh. Some quickline has eaten up considerable hide or skin, but the tail, an, the tail, was genuine, though the rest was a delusion and snare. When the ready talker was telling of the many thousand pounds of flesh before him and how the railways trembled when it passed over some of the common bridges, he must have chuckled to think of that sawdust and shaving-stuffed form. It was cruel, but it had to be done. All the stories of the preparations that had to be used to keep the flesh all right were hoaxes. The truth is it was a skin well taken off and stuffed. When Mr. Englehard left for the cast the whole occupied space in battery D armory, but was set outside, and sun, weather and wind have done their work. From the base ball park the car and the white contents can be seen, and must recult recullections from many.

MUST HAVE BEEN LOTTA.

So a Washington Lady Says With Reference to the Russ-Crabtree Wadding.

Washington, July 7.—The Critic has the following gossip about the Huss-Crabtree affair: A unitual friend of Mr. Huss, and that gentleman's former lave, was found at her residence and interrogated as to her knowledge of the runnored wedding. The lady said that, not having witnessed any marriage ceremony between the fascinating actress and the young Englishman, she could not take an oath that the auptials had been celebrated; but she could state as positively as anyone, except an eye-witness, that the no-torious gentleman and the famous lady had been made man and wife on the afternoon of Monday, July 2, and that the Roy, Dr. Power laid performed the ceremony.
"But the Rev. Dr. Power was out of town Monday, the 2d," said the reporter.

"In town long enough to perform the ceremony, and out of town soon enough to escape the interviewers," replied the lady.
"Where do you believe Lotta is now?"
"Somewhere between New Yorkand Liver-

The lady sas unwilling to tell anything more, but insisted that she know all she had said; knew the marriage had long been contenmlated; knew that Lotta arrived here just in time for the ceremony, and knew that it had been solemnized, "When will Huss leave for Europe?"

"About August 1." "Why does he keep this seere t?"

"I can not tell, unless it is nt Lotta's re-quest, or for notoriety, or something of that kind. I know it from his own lips that it is true."
"Who witnessed the wedding?"

"The best friends of both parties did not, so I suppose nobody did."
"What do you think of Mr. Huss' cards of

"They are none of them fair-and-square de-Mals, but weak equivocations. For instance, in the card in The Critic he says he did not marry Lotta Crabtree,' and doubtless gets over this by the fact that, her name is not Lotta but Charlotte. In another card he says: I did not marry Lotta M. Crabtree but did marry Charlotte M. Crabtree, and he told the truth, literally, when he made that

"How long has Mr. Huss known Lotta?" "At least seven or eight years."

"Is Mr. Huss wealthy?"
"No; but he will be. The wills of an uncle and father both leave him fortunes, to which he has not yet proved his title, or something of that kind. He left home as a little boy, and the wills leave the money to Mr. Huss, if he can be found."

It is rumored that Mr. Huss has informed several people that he really married Lotta, and this, coupled with his statement that he married some other Charlotte M. Crabtres. keeps a good many people from believing that the marriage license was a simple hear to get even with the other girl.

Supper to the Newsboys. CHICAGO, July 7.—The rink in this city was comfortably filled with the little guests of Rev. Dr. Lorimer on the occasion of a supper given by the reverend gentleman to the news-boys of the city, and ladies and gentlemen who went to see how the gamins of the street could behave in the presence of respectability. The boys acted splendidly, and while a great many of them would have looked much better had they visited the lake before supper, their appearance did not deter the ladies of the Tabernacle who waited upon them from being kind and pleasant, as though they were petting their own bright-faced little ones at home. During the supper the boys were quiet but industrious. Ham sandwiches disappeared with astonishing colority, and if the feasters had been inclined to indulge in their customary railery they could not have found the time. After supper the boys chtated awhile in their own free and easy manner, and then Rev. Dr. Lorimer, who was entertaining, called them to order and spoke in a cheerful way, telling them that they had many friends who were deeply interested in thorn, and he honed they would prove themselves to be worthy of this kindly feeling, When Dr. Lorimer concluded, a cornet solo was played by a member of Lyon's orchestra, and the boys united in donfening whistles and cheers. Mr. Norman T. Gassette followed in a short speech, and told them how he had, when "a little shaver," sold papers in Springfield, Mass. Emery Storrs in a characteristic speech, which was loudly cheered by the boys. Then they gave three cheers for Dr. Lorimer. Dr. Lorimer told them that Mr. P. D. Armour had furnished the meats for the supper, the ladies of Immanuel church the bread and cakes, Mr. C. N. Love the fruit, and Mr. John R. Walsh

Prof. Huxley on Elementary Teaching.

There are a great many people who imagine that elementary teaching might be properly carried out by teachers provided with only elementary knowledge.

Let me assure you that that is the pro-foundest mistake in the world. There is nothing so difficult to do as to write a good elementary book, and there is nobody so hard to teach properly and well as people who know nothing about a subject; and I will tell you why. If I address an audience of persons who are occupied in the same line of work as myself I can assume that they know a vast deal, and that they can find out the blunders I make. If they don't, it is their fault and not mine; but when I I say, make sure that it will bear examination and that I do not impose upon the credulity of those who have faith in me. In the second place, it involves that difficult process of knowing what you know so well that you can talk about it as you can talk about your ordinary business. A man can always talk about his own business. He can always make it plain; but if his knowledge is hearsay he is afraid to go beyond what he has recollected and put it before those that are ignorant in such a shape that they shall comprehend it. That is why, to be a good elementary teacher, to teach the elements of any subject, requires most careful consideration if you are a master of the subject; and if you are not a master of it it is needful you should familiarize yourself with so much as you are called upon to teach-soak yourself in it, so to speak-until you know it as part of your daily life and daily knowledge, and then you will be able to teach anybody That is what I mean by practical teachers, and although the deficiency is being remedied to a large extent, I think it is one which has long existed, and which has existed from no fault of these has been approximately and which has existed from no fault of those who undertook to teach, but be-cause until within the last score years it absolutely was not possible for any one in a great many branches of science. whatever his desire might be, to get in-struction which would enable him to be a good teacher of elementary things. All that is being rapidly altered, and I hope it will soon become a thing of the past."—Nature.

Strange Loss of Sight.

In the course of a recent debate on viviscetion in the Prussian Landtag, the Minister of Public Worship, Von Gossler, cited the following remarkable case: "A young lady, belonging to an aristocratic family in Konigsberg, gradually lost her power of vision, until at last she was entirely blind. Her eye, on being examined, was found to be perfectly sound, whence it followed that the seat of her trouble must be in the brain. All treatment proved unavailing until the discovery was made that she had received some months previously a heavy blow on the head from a falling board. Professor Munck, the famous experimentalist who exam ined her, convinced the oculist and the surgeon that the affected part must be that section of the brain which his experiments on monkeys had proved to be the central station for sensations of sight. The blow had evidently injured the membrane of the brain. This made perforation of the skull necessary—a very difficult operation—which, however, in this case was comparatively simple, because the exact locality in the brain was known, whereas in the case of a Prince whose skull was perforated for a similar reason, previous to Dr. Munck's discoveries, the operation had to be repeated thirty-two times. The young lady recovered her eyesight completely."

A Woman's Experience.

MRS. WILLIAM DOWNES, of Uxbridge, Mass., writes on March 15, 1883, as follows:

"During the past three years I have been a reat sufferer from a complication of disease which baffled the skill of the most experienced doctors, as I could not obtain permanent relief by their treatment and prescriptions; and I have also tried many so-called cores in the medicine line, but could get no relief. The foalus, aches, and weakness increased so rapidly and constantly that I was so reduced in strength as to be unable to leave the bed, and the doctors informed me that there was no hope of a recovery. In this exhausted and discouraged condition a dear friend persuaded me to use Hunt's Remedy, and after taking it only three days I commenced to get better, and to my great joy and delight I have continued to improve constantly by its use, until now, after having taken the remedy only a few weeks, I am able to be about my house again, and am now doing my bouse work. My lame back is cured, the severe pains have lisappeared, and I am now in better health than for many years, and beg this privilege of gladly recommending Hunt's Remedy to all who are afflicted with any disease of the kidneys or liver; and I also highly recommend it for the attacks of sick headache. My husband also has experienced a very great benefit to his health by the use of this most valuable medicine, Hunt's Remedy.

"Our Flag is Still There."

Mr. S. B. Longfellow, Augusta, Me., cast side river, writes us under date of April 15, 1883: "To whom it may concern: This may certify that two years ago I was very badly afflicted with kidney and urinary difficulties, which extended through the system and laid me up for weeks, so that I could do no work. I had the most skilful physician in town, who gave me no assistance. Hearing of Hunt's Remedy, I got a pottle, and half of it cared me entirely, so that I have been well ever since. The other half I gave to a neighbor who was afflicted much as 1 was, and it restored him to health. I can truly say Hunt's Remedy has been of great and in-expressive worth to me."

When he can be consulted on-Deformities. Spinal and Chronic Diseases.

Dr. Fishblatt

Has discovered the greatest cure in the world for weakness of the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, puleness of sight or giddiness, diseases of the throat use or skin, affections of the liver, languistomach, or bowels,—those terrible disorders arising from solitary practice more latal to their vietims than the songs of the sirens to the Mariners of Ulyses, blighting their most radiant hopes or articipations, rendering marriage unpossible.

YOUNG MEN.

Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually overeith an actingtive enough a first annually sweep-to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exulted talout and brilliant intellect, who might, if otherwise, entrance listening senates with the thunder of their cloquence, or wake to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with fail confidence.

Marriage.

Married persons, or young men contemplatmarried persons, or young men contemplat-ing marriage aware of physical weakness (loss of procreation power, impotency.) nervous de-bility or tany other disqualifications speedily sclieved. He who places himself under the care of Dr. Fishblatt may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

Organic WEAKIN ESS

Immediately cured and full vigor restored. This affliction—which renders life a barden and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victim of improper indulgence. Koning persons are ant to commit exposses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands this subject will deay that procreation is lost sooner by those failing into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most scrious and destructive symptoms of both mind and body arise. The system becomes deranged, the physical and mental functions weakened, loss of procreative power, nevous irritability, dyspessis, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, constitutional debility, wasting of the frame, cough, consumption and death.

A Cure Warranted.

Persons ruined in health by funlearned pre-tenders who keep them trifling month after month, taking poisonous and injurious com-pounds, should apply immediately.

Dr. Fishblatt

Graduated at one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and cans when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at certain sounds, with frequent blushing attended somewhat with derangement of the mind, were cured immediately.

Particular Notice.

Dr. F. addresses all those who have injured Dr. F. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary behirs, which ruins both mind and body, unitting them for business, study, society, marriage. These are some of the end, melancholy effects produced by the early labits of youth, namely: Weakness in the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of sight. loss of musical power, palpitation of the heart, dispepsia, nervous irritability, derangement of the directive functions, debility consumption, etc. 3

Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach. Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood.

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated bysician, seeking to do good, by dovoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of malagies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it frequires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. brewer claims to work nowonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devoted his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being homest in his dealings, candid in opinious and reasonable in his charges. Gen. Ert. & Pass. Agt.
MILWAUKER WIS,

"Your asking me how I came to use it, reminds me of the story of the Scotchman who, on his deathbed, after a life of meanness, wanted to make things all right with the Lord by leaving some money to kirk."
"Will the Almighty pass me into heaven if I give 10,000 pounds to the kirk, d'ye think, said he?"
"I can't promise ye thot, mon, answered the minister, but I advise ye to try the experiment."

"That's what I did with Parker's Tonic; I tried the experiment. It more thou met my experiations, and I am very glad to testify to its excellence. It goes at once to the root of all digestive and nervous derangements so common among men of my profession. For women, and chronic invalidat the Tonic is a perfect invigorant and is designed to supplant all other remedies for this purpose. A single dose produces the gentle perspication and sense of life, which cradicates disease. It seems to rouse every organ into activity. I admire it, too, for its power to antagonize the hold of the liquor habit over insbriates."

This presentation which has been known as Parker's Ginort Tonic, will hereafter be called Parker's Tonic. As unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers with inferior actueles under the name of ginger, and as ginger is really an unimportant flavoring ingredient, we drop the misleading word.

There will be no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles in the hands of dealers wrapped under the name of Parker's Ginger Tonic contain the genuine medicine if the fac-simile signature of Hiscox & Co, is at the bottom of the outside wrapper.

the new monument being erected there on the lots owned by the McKey estate. The monument is the largest in the cemetery, and while it lays no claim to elaborate sculpture, rich designs, the absence of any attempt at ornamentation, its immense proportions and plain surface, at once strike the beholder with admiration of its simple beauty, as a fitting token to mark the resting place of ument is placed in a block of ten lots gest in the cemetery, and perhaps in southern Wisconsin. Upon the die rests the cap, which is 2 feet 2 inches by 2 feet 6 inches, and then comes the shaft, making the whole monument twenty-five feet to height, and weighing about twelve tors. This is truly a great improvement in the "silent city," and one that will be greatly admired by all visitors to that sacred place. The cost of this & Co monument was about $1,800.

Barglays at Work.

The residence of Mr. Samuel Henderson, on South Franklin street, was entered by burglars last night. They entered the house through the cellar door, which had been left open. After entering the house they helped themselves to a square meal, including strawberries and cream. They ransacked the house, but only carried off twenty-five cents, which was takon from a drawer where several nickies and pennies were left. They found a watch hanging up in his son's room which they took down and placed in his parts pocket; and then took Mr. Henderson's pants out and left frem in the front yard, where he found them this morning. The brigians left the house by valocking the front door. They seemed to take their time, and visited all the rooms, looking for valuables, but so Inhunian Treatment of a Child. MEMORIS, Tenn., July 7.—An unparalleled case of inhuman treatment was developed before Esquire J. M. Coleman, The monster in human form is one Wright M. Albritton, omployed as a machinist on the Memphis & Charleston road. The victim of his cruelty is his stepson, a youth of 10 years named Jesso Maynard. It was first proven by witnesses before the examining magistrate that about Christmas time the prisoner unmercifully whipped the boy with a rawhide until he was a bleeding mass, and then held him before the fire and literally teasted him. The boy's body is covered with dark-red scars, showing the fiendish treatment he had been subjected to. The wife of Albritton and mother of the boy during the barbarious crime mentioned above was in the room, but hid her head in the pillow of the bed to shut out the agonizing cries of her child. The case is in the hands of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Chil-dren and Animals, and is being vigorously prosecuted.

Hondley's Letter.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Star editorially notices the letter of July Hoadley to A. B. Mollett on civil service reform, etc. It says: "The judge straddles the question heantifully as if he had prepared the letter for the express purpose of meeting the exigencies of a campaign. Those who don't like the opening are respectfully referred to its close, and those who are dissatisfied with the close will find some lovely sentiments in the beginning. The old hunder who could aim his gun so as to hit if it was a deer and miss if it was a cat could learn points from Judge Headley."

THE INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT. OBITUARY

The Numes of the Pupils Contribut ing to fin Saccess.

> The industrial exhibit of the pupils of the city schools closed at five o'block last evening, and as stated in the Gazette was a success in every particular, and reflects great credit upon those who had the exhibition in charge, especially to Superintendent R. W. Burton, and his assistant, Miss DeEtta Howard. A large number of patrons and friends of the schools visited the Central building during the exhibit, and all expressed themselves well pleased with the display of articles. The Gazette, this evening, gives a list of the pupils who contributed articles, which we publish as a matter of record for the benefit of the pupils of the public schools. There were 1,132 pupils in attendance at the several schools; 400 of whom furnished 542 different articles for the exhibit as follows:
